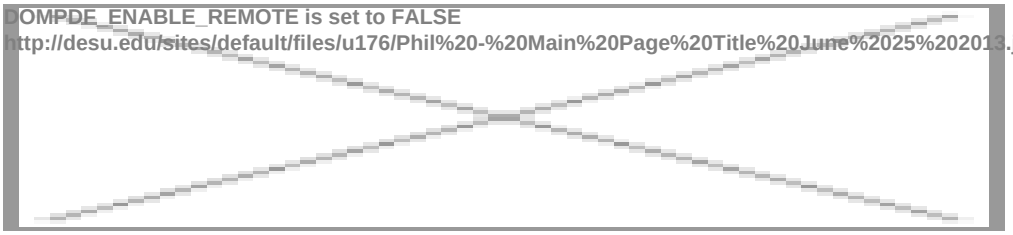
Housing and Residential Education



Here at Delaware State University our residence halls are more than just a place to sleep. Out-of-classroom learning experiences will account for a significant amount of the students' experience here at Delaware State University. Our staff strives to provide students with support and resources, as well as character building activities and programs that will develop a sense of community and school pride.

It is our goal to provide a comfortable, and more importantly, a safe living/learning environment for you to learn and grow as a student.

Throughout this website we've tried to provide valuable information for new and returning students, plus parents. Please use the links to view the various features offered within our residence halls.

We look forward to seeing you on campus! If you have questions related to residence hall living, please do not hesitate to contact us at housing@desu.edu [1]

Sincerely,
Phillip Holmes
Interim Director, Department of Housing and Residential Education
