Mrs. Lucas has been a longtime advocate against domestic violence sister Witney Holland Rose in 2003. Witney was senselessly killed by Baltimore, and ever since Mrs. Lucas has made it her mission in life domestic violence.

Mrs. Lucas and her husband Dr. Kevin Lucas have created a non-profit organization carried after her sister? Witney?s Lights, Inc.? that is dedicated to raising a water system the advocation about the issue of domestic violence. Her advocation about the issue of domestic violence. Her advocation about the attention of then-U.S. Sen. Joseph R. Bifaise aware less Lucas? work on the issue related greatly to the legislator?s landmark biolance. violence.

That connection later resulted in an invitation for Ms. Lucas to give the official nomination of Sen. Biden as the running mate for then-presidential candidate Barack Obama at the 2008 Democratic National Convention. Following the Obama-Biden victory in November, Ms. Lucas and family were asked to accompany the president on the historic Inauguration Train, during which she was asked to introduce the then-president-elect during the journey stop in Baltimore.

All this has served to focus more attention on Mrs. Lucas? advocacy against Domestic Violence, which she has parlayed in more active work on this issue? including the planned Oct. 3 awareness walk.

Mrs. Lucas says that with 2,800 reported cases of domestic violence last year in a relatively small state such as Delaware, there is a tremendous need for greater awareness and attention to the issue in the First State.

?The Witney?s Lights Walk/5k Run is not the answer to ending domestic violence, but it a strong way to bring awareness to it,? Mrs. Lucas said. ?The problem is people don?t talk about it.?

Proceeds from the 5K Walk/Run will go towards Witney's Lights domestic violence awareness programs.
