College of Education, Health & Public Policy

The Academic programs are Education [1], Nursing [2], Social Work [3], Health Promotion [4], and Movement Science [4]. The Community based program is the Capitol Park Community Center.

Building on the mission of the University, the mission of the College of Education, Health and Public Policy is to promote excellence in education, research and health related services for our students, citizens of Delaware, the nation and the world. These pursuits will focus on increasing knowledge, shaping policy and providing solutions for health related issues. The educational programs are guided by the standards and ethics of the various professional organizations and accrediting agencies. The College is dedicated to preparing students in health professions for graduate study who will be informed professionals empowered to lead and manage change while shaping society's future.
