Department of Accounting, Economics and Finance

The Department houses the accounting, economics and finance faculty at Delaware State University. We offer a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting [1], a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a concentration Economics [2], and a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a concentration Finance [3].

The department also offers a 150-hour accounting program [4] in which students earn both an undergraduate accounting degree and an MBA.

Our mission is to provide a student-centered learning environment to develop accounting, economics and finance professionals with a national and global perspective. We emphasize the development of technical competencies through academic excellence, innovation, integrity in teaching, professional development, applied and instructional research, preparation for advanced studies, and outreach.

Our students have many opportunities to become involved in the university through our student organizations, including Delaware State University?s Student Organizations [5], the Accounting and Finance Club, the Investment Club, and the Student Chapter of the National Association of Black Accountants [6], the International Honor Society Beta Gamma Sigma and the Omicron Delta Epsilon International Honor Society in Economics.

The college offers a variety of scholarships [7] to help students fund their education and prepare for the next step in their careers.
